IN GOOD FORM—Michael Bell, 21, must look like he's Kareem Jabbar, to his 10-year-old brother, Patrick, but the younger Bell of 5898 Dexter St., Romulus, makes a game play for the basket over his older brother. The "drive for the basket" came during Monday's not so spring-like weather, as the two brothers decided to get outside for some fresh air. Weekly sessions set

Airport to notify city of plans in the future

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Plans for Detroit Metropolitan Airport will no longer be a closed book to the City of Romulus.

The Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) last week agreed to set up weekly meetings between city and airport administrators to discuss mutual problems and to coordinate planning better.

"It's a move to improve the communication which has been lacking for so long in the past," Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said.

THE MEETING was called after a public hearing before the Romulus City Council last month which drew criticism for the road commission from Romulus residents.

The residents specifically criticized the methods the WCRC used to acquire land for expansion of the airport, but Troutt used the lever of public discontent to win improved relations between the city and airport in the future.

At last week's meeting, WCRC administrators agreed to set up discussions on improvements for Eureka Road, on land acquisitions which may not be needed at this time, and on paying the city back for water and sewer lines absorbed by the airport during expansion.

The administrators also announced they would be setting up relocation offices for Romulus residents at the old Air National Guard headquarters in the airport.

"WE INTEND not only to clear up the immediate problem of land acquisition, but also to clear up all the long-standing problems between the airport and city," Troutt said.

"This community has taken a lot from the airport in the name of service to the county's residents, but now it's time for the tables to be reversed, and for Romulus to receive something from the airport," he added.

Troutt said Eureka, "the worst road in the county," is being ignored by the WCRC, which seems to be more intent on running an airport than building roads, as it is supposed to do.

"We want improvements on Eureka Road now and not three years from now, as promised," Troutt said.

IT MAY BE possible for the WCRC to build a blacktop surface on Eureka, before the road has to be chopped up and moved further south to accommodate the construction of a new "super runway" to handle international jet traffic and new supersonic transports.

Troutt said it also is possible the road commission will reconsider the need for all the land it has taken in the name of airport improvement and drainage maintenance.

"We admit there is a drainage problem in Romulus and understand that the airport would flood us out if all the water was diverted into our drains every time it rains," Troutt said. "But it makes no sense for the airport to have 'clear ways' for runways and holding ponds in other areas when a clearway could be used for water holding pond just as easily."

On the third item—receiving compensation for sewer lines the citizens of Romulus are now paying for, but that have been absorbed by the airport—Troutt said: "They've agreed to accept a bill from us for the amount we lost with their expansion."

'It's a move to improve communication.'

TROUTT SAID he is assigning the city's urban renewal director, George Wilhelm, to act as the liaison between Romulus and the WCRC in an effort to iron out the original problem that caused the turmoil between the airport and the city.

"George will sit in on any future discussions between the road commission and Romulus residents concerning land acquisition," Troutt added. "He knows federal law

City council gets choice in budgets

The Romulus City Council will get two city budgets to mull over this week.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt will present a "budget of necessity" that will outline next year's cost of the present services being offered in the city, and a "budget of supplements and improvements to the city's standards."

"It will be up to the council to decide which they want," Troutt said. "Naturally, I'll push for the budget which increases services, but we'll also be working on a proposal which would not increase the present millage."

TROUTT SAID he intends to juggle Romulus' present 12-mill total levy to switch taxes from water and sewer debt retirement funds to the city's general fund.

"We presently have seven mills for water and sewer bonds," he added. "That may not all be necessary, so we'll probably be recommending taking some of those funds to place in the general fund."

Presently the city levies five mills for general fund expenditures. "What I intend to propose is $250,000 for a road improvement program and another $300,000 for recreation," Troutt said. "I'd also like to recommend that we hire a juvenile officer and two plain clothes detectives to work directly for the city through the Wayne County Sheriff's Department."

"I HAVE NO cost figures on that yet." Troutt said he realizes he has missed the April 1 charter deadline for turning in the budget proposal.

"But, it makes no sense to turn in a half-done proposal before we know what the city's worth," the mayor said. "The assessor is expected to have the details on the city's assessed valuation to me soon."

Preliminary figures indicate Romulus' total worth to be $206 million during fiscal 1974-75. One mill ($1 per $1,000 in assessed valuation) would raise $206,000 under that state equalized valuation.

THE FIGURE shows a 10 per cent increase in valuation

'I'll push for the budget which increases services.'

over last year's $187 million total.

Despite the growth, city taxpayers will pay a small amount more than they did last year because of a rise in the state equalization factor.

The factor rose from 1.88 last year to 2.03 this year, an eight per cent increase.

"The county and state apply that factor to our taxes, so they will rise," Troutt said.

"But, of course, we won't be raising them to bring in more money."

"WE'LL JUST be switching the funds around."

Troutt said the water and sewer division in the city's budget has enough surplus funds to take care of bond payments on the debt incurred in 1956 for the construction of water and sewer systems in Romulus.

"We had the surplus for extensions in the system," he said. "But we didn't want to do them this year."

Council deliberations are expected to start on the budget as soon as it is received. Under state law, the legislative body has until June 30 to adopt a budget.

'Con artists' bilk residents

Folmar warns homeowners to legitimate businessmen. If homeowners suspect the businesses are less than legitimate, they should notify the sheriff.

Folmar outlined a "plan of attack" to help protect residents from the itinerant businessmen:

- obtain the name and address of the firm;
- ask for names and addresses of previous customers and check with them;
- SECURE estimates from at least two other firms for identical work;
- study a copy of the contract making sure all promises are included and that all the language is understood;
- do not fall for a price that seems too low — it may prove to be costly;

A Romulus official has received complaints from residents on "con artists" who are trying to sell bogus home repairs.

"It appears as though men selling bogus repairs to houses have been seen near Romulus," said Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar. "With the summer approaching, homeowners in this community should take precautions before paying for repairs."

The "con artists" specialize in "selling" homeowners driveway resurfacing work, roof coatings, house paintings and gutter and chimney work, Folmar said.

"THEY ALWAYS ask for cash in advance and seldom perform any work," he added. "Residents should make sure they contract work

It's new lawn mower ...wrong, meet Noah

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

There is a new kind of lawn mower trimming the grass at Beverly Taylor's home in Romulus.

Four goats have been set loose on the Taylor's front lawn at 2921 Goddard Rd. to help keep the nearly 10 acres of grass at a respectable level.

Actually, the goats are only pets, but their penchant for eating growing grass helps trim the lawn.

"We love animals, in case you can't tell," said Mrs. Taylor amid four goats, two baby sheep, two baby goats, rabbits and dogs in her yard.

'The kids love it here...'

"We lived in Taylor before, but moved to Romulus so we could keep pets," she said. "The kids love it here and I think it teaches them a lot about care for living things."

The four pets you may see mowing the front lawn are Sampson, Noah, Seymour, and Bosco the Billygoat.

The three-week-old lambs and small goats are unnamed at this time.

"It's no problem keeping all the animals fed with this much space," Mrs. Taylor added. "We had a place before near railroad tracks."

"The trains used to upset the animals."

Now the Taylors live near another transportation corridor — the glide path to Detroit Metropolitan Airport's east-west runway.

Do the jets bother the Taylors or their pets?

"No," Mrs. Taylor said. "You barely know they're up there. We just go about our business and they go about theirs, neither bothers the other."

He warns about 'killer' by pools this summer

Electricity may be a hidden killer in swimming pools this summer, warns Romulus Electrical Insp. Otis Stevens.

"The danger is so serious that the 1971 National Electrical Code requires that all electrical equipment at storable backyard pools be connected to a protective ground fault circuit interrupter to insure the safety of a pool, Stevens said.

The device electronically cuts off current within 1/40 of a second after it senses an unusual drain.

"IT'S QUICK enough to save a life," he added. "This may be hard to believe, but an able bodied man under certain circumstances can be severely injured by the small amount of current it takes to light one tiny Christmas tree lamp.

"Small children could be killed with that much current."

Stevens said all residents with pools should take several precautions to insure against death by electrocution.

They include:

- WARNING USERS of pools against using electrical equipment out of doors while wet or standing on concrete, earth, grass or wood;

- forbidding the use of portable appliances within 10 feet of the pool;

- not using extension cords run near the pool;
- not allowing wires over the pool and keeping them at least 10 feet away from the edge of the pool.

IMMEDIATELY letting go of any electrical equipment that causes a tingling sensation when it or metal near it is touched.

"This department is going to be committed to more strict enforcement of the pool ordinance," Stevens said. "It isn't that we want to be tough, but there are lives at stake because of the carelessness of a few."

Information on the electrical code can be obtained by calling the Romulus Building Department at 941-0666.

Owen seeks changes in state adoption law

Three basic changes in Michigan's adoption statutes are being sought in legislation being prepared by State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-Ypsilanti) to prevent the type of legal fights similar to that involving the custody of two-year-old Rhonda Marie Horn.

The girl was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Horn of Ypsilanti, but she has been taken from them and returned to her natural mother in a recent ruling by Washtenaw County Probate Judge Francis L. O'Brien.

The natural mother, Rita Kay Harris of Auxier, Ky., removed the child from a foster home where she was being kept pending an appeal by the Horns.

"THIS CASE is not unique," Owen said. "The fact that this sort of thing can and does happen is an obvious indication that there is something very wrong with our adoption laws. If the law allows this form of personal tragedy to take place, it is not doing the job and should be changed."

The bill being prepared for introduction by Owen would make three basic changes in the adoption statutes. The bill would:

—restrict direct consent adoption to relatives of the child;

—REDUCE THE time period for a rehearing on adoption matters from 90 to 20 days; and —prohibit the placement of children for adoption when parental rights still are under probate court jurisdiction.

Owen, whose legislative district includes the communities of Belleville, Van Buren Township and part of Romulus, said that he has received 100 letters asking him, as a legislator, to do something to help the Horns.

"Unfortunately, there was nothing I could do and apparently it is now too late," he said. "I did request the House staff attorneys conduct an intensive investigation to determine if I could be of any assistance to the Horns."

"They informed me that it was a matter to be determined by the courts and not in the jurisdiction of the Legislature."

County charges Major with pollution violation

The Major Oil Company of Romulus has been charged with two counts of criminal violations of the Wayne County Air Pollution Control Regulation.

The company is a waste oil recovery processor located on Van Born Road.

The complaint was filed in the 34th District Court in Trenton by the Air Pollution Control Division of the Wayne County Health Department.

THE COUNTY'S complaint charged the oil company with failing to obtain permits for installation and operation of processing equipment used for cleaning waste oil collected from industry and automotive crankcases.

The recovered oil is resold as heating fuel oil or for industrial processes.

Morton Sterling, director of the Air Pollution Control Division said: "The court action was taken against this company because they have failed to respond adequately to our formal request for information about their operations."

"We are distressed and frustrated that this company has made such a flagrant disregard of the county's regulation."

THE MAJOR Oil Company started recovery operations in early March and according to air pollution control officials has been the source of heavy, pungent petroleum odors from the new plant.

Sterling said the court action is aimed at gaining abatement programs from the oil company designed to reduce or eliminate odors, and other possible undetermined emissions from the oil handling and recovery process.

At junior high

Poster contest deals with pollution probe

Students at Romulus Junior High School held a pollution poster contest. The contest idea was prompted by the clean up campaign in the city.

"The posters were an outgrowth of exploring pollution in relation to city and body," said Pat Gresock. "The students were to create an original poster with accompanying slogan."

The displays were judged by four staff members at the junior high school on Olive Street.

THE WINNERS are: Tammy Daniels, Larry Luttman, Sherry Horn and Gail Thomas.

Tammy demonstrated a thought-provoking poster by using a negative approach, Ms. Gresock said. The poster slogan is: "There's something good about Romulus. You can play basketball with the trash on the way to school."

Larry's poster depicts an expulsion of smoke from small industry using the caption, "Let the sun shine."

A plea to students sums up Gail's message. Her poster slogan is: "Hey kids, give the drugs up. Feel better and happier."

AND SHERRY'S slogan was: "Don't throw your life away, throw your cigarettes away."

The winners of the poster contest received special recognition and a dinner hosted by one of the teachers.

Lethemon heads department

The five-month vacancy in the Romulus Building department has been filled. Howard C. Lethemon Jr., has been hired to head the department at a salary of $16,000 per year.

"We found ourselves a good man," said Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt in announcing the appointment. "Lethemon shows a long background in the building trades that will be useful to the city in helping to enforce our various building codes."

LETHEMON, 54, started working in carpentry at the age of 12.

During his teen-age years, he was a carpentry apprentice; performed repairs on homes; designed new homes; operated lumber mill machines; studied tool and die making and studied architectural design.

According to Troutt, Lethemon also has background in law and real estate sales.

Prior to coming to Romulus, Lethemon was the manager of a contractor's office.

"NOW THAT WE have a department head, I'll be expecting some revamping of the present city building codes," Troutt said. "I'll give him about two weeks to get acquainted and then I'll want him to start reviewing the entire building ordinance."

"He'll be expected to toughen it up to improve on the existing laws in the city and to crack down on slipshod developers."

Lethemon fills the vacancy left when Clayton W. Meldrum who resigned as building department head last October during an election tiff with Hyle J. Carmichael, the former mayor.

Meldrum claimed he was fired by Carmichael because his wife worked on Troutt's election campaign.

MELDRUM LATER took a job with the Romulus School District.

Romulus City Engineer Ed Orr filled the post on a part-time basis while he worked for the city, but Orr has been forced to cut back on his part-time work in the city for health reasons, Troutt said.

One of the largest problems Lethemon will be inheriting in taking office will be Romulus' continuing fight with developers to get repairs on recently constructed homes in the city.

Troutt said Lethemon soon will join city crews in inspecting homes less than one-year of age to determine what can be done by the contractors involved to correct structural defects.

'We found ourselves a good man.'

School shows media exhibit

The books in the library at Beverly Elementary School will provide the background for an educational display when the school holds its "Learning Festival" next Wednesday.

Magnifiers, simple science experiments, dinosaurs, magnets and motors, spelling games, nature collections, history and geography activities, number games and educational handicrafts will be shown.

Materials to create the exhibited items at home can be purchased, according to spokesmen for the "Learning Festival Committee."

The festival is open to the public from 1 to 3:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. in the school library. The school is located at 35408 Beverly Rd., Romulus.

Profits from all sales will go to the school for the purchase of books.

Airport to tell its plans concerning land acquisition and the amounts residents are entitled to under the law, so he is best suited for the job.

"From now on, all relocation matters and meetings will be handled out of the new community relocation offices on the airport property, rather than from Detroit or by phone."

Among the charges leveled at the WCRC during hearings on the matter of land relocation were that residents of Romulus were offered less than what they were entitled to under federal law for land lying in the path of airport expansion. And that acquisitions were handled by telephone and by mail when residents of the city couldn't meet with commission's real estate agents during "regular business hours."

Pancake festival planned

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt has declared April 27 as Romulus Kiwanis Club Festival Day in the city.

The day was set aside by Troutt for the annual Kiwanis Club pancake festival, scheduled from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Romulus Progressive Hall.

Kiwanians will be selling residents all the pancakes they can eat for $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children and for free for children under 12 years of age throughout the day.

Proceeds from the event will be used to finance Kiwanis projects in the community, including the Michigan Kidney Foundation, the Boy Scouts, St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, the 4-H Club, Wolverine Bous State, Romulus Youth Organization, the Huron Valley Girl Scout Camp, the Romulus High School Honors Banquet and the Romulus High School Football Banquet.

Jaycees to study center

The Romulus Jaycees are considering a proposal to back the establishment of a burn center in the Romulus area.

At a recent meeting, Phil McNett, external vice-president of the organization, told the Jaycees that less than 10 per cent of all burn victims receive the best treatment available due to a lack of adequate treatment centers. McNett said some 2 million Americans are burned each year with more than 75,000 of them receiving treatment in hospitals.

However, some 12,000 people, including 6,000 children, die each year of burns.

According to McNett, only 80 of the 6,000 acute care hospitals in the United States are capable of providing advanced care and treatment for the burned patients with only 32 of those capable of treating the severely burned. The group will be making a study on McNett's findings and may back a push for more burn treatment centers in the country.

Witchcraft class eyed

The objection of more than 50 residents, including three ministers, prompted the Van Buren Board of Education to halt the supervised discussion of witchcraft at South Junior High School.

The objectors contend that the class was anti-Christ, anti-religious and not a proper subject to allow students to participate in.

The witchcraft study was part of a noon-time activity held at the school for voluntary students only. It was taught by Royce Disbrow, a member of the Belleville school's teaching staff.

Gov. Milliken should have been a doctor

By DON HOENSHELL,
Panax Editorial Director

Gov. William G. Milliken could save a woman in half with a fingernail file before 9 million people and win the Nobel Peace prize, for surgery.

It frustrates his critics to see it done but not know how he does it.

He's done it at least twice in the last six months, once when he signed the bill eliminating the waiting week for unemployment compensation and again when President Nixon came to Michigan.

Reduced to its basics, it's show-and-tell. LABOR UNIONS in a numerically Democratic state rammed through the legislature the waiting-week bill, which reduced to zero the time a jobless worker will have to wait for the check.

It will cost largely Republican businessmen and industrialists $16 million a year. They will be angry. But labor is mainly Democratic and the Rubicon had to be crossed.

So Milliken angrily sent the bill back to the

He frustrates his critics...just ask the Democrats legislature (show) with instructions to fix the part which said a worker could slug his foreman on his way out the door (tell).

THUS REPAIRED, Milliken signed the bill and made labor happier. Business has not yet reacted, apparently still contemplating the benefits promised the noses of the foremen.

Former Gov. John B. Swainson, now a Michigan Supreme Court Justice, vetoed the Bowman Bill in 1962. It barred Detroit from imposing its city income tax on suburbanites and Swainson lost the next election.

How much better it would have been for Swainson to send it back to the legislature with instructions to apply it only to left-handed residents of Warren who collect specimens of Confederate money in the hope the south will rise again.

MILLIKEN KNEW that getting too close to Nixon in Democratic Michigan would pinch a nerve in 1974. He made the point obliquely and political writers spilled ink all over Michigan.

When Nixon made plans to come to Michigan to campaign for Republican James Sparling against Democratic J. Bob Traxler in their 8th district congressional race, Milliken scrubbed for surgery.

First, he disclosed he had a long-standing commitment to go to Toronto that day to discuss the environment. Then he said if Nixon happened to be in Southfield that morning, he'd be welcome to breakfast.

THAT SHOWED he wasn't close to Nixon, that he really wanted to avoid the leaky umbrella of national Republican politics. Besides, Nixon would need a navigator to get from Saginaw to Southfield.

But there had to be something for the Rep. Robert J. Hubers and the other conservatives in the southeastern Michigan strongholds and the good folks in the Bible Belt in the Thumb area.

SO MILLIKEN changed his plans to greet the President at Tri-City airport near Saginaw, then fly off to Toronto. The sacrifice on behalf of philosophical conservatives was gratefully received.

The final result was the Milliken posture of rejecting Nixon out of hand, then welcoming him to Michigan. Nobody can fight with a friend like that.

Democrats are going to try to hang Watergate and Nixon's income tax troubles around Milliken's neck this year. Conservative Republicans are going to be critical if he dumps Nixon.

The polls show that Milliken is the least affected political person in Michigan by the wave of Republican problems at the national level.

IT'S GOT TO BE a comfort to Milliken that there's a tomorrow and that his efforts to make everybody happy are succeeding.

The operation has been a success. And everybody will know next November whether the doctor survived.

As we see it

State's major utility faces critical task in serving the public

It is both an irony and a classic case of forced ill-timing that Michigan Bell Telephone Company will seek a rate increase later this month. Thus the conditions surrounding the petition to the state Public Service Commission will tend to obscure the need.

One irony is that while the commission two years ago authorized a 7.87 percent earning rate, Michigan Bell is now at 6.90 percent. It could have earned six times more by putting $230 million in the bank than by investing it in improved and expanded service in 1973.

Michigan Bell, the fourth largest employer in the state which is among the best operated units in the Bell system, has kept rates among the lowest—with increases totaling 16 percent since 1967 while the consumer price index was soaring by 43 percent.

The residence telephone in Detroit which carries a monthly rate of $7.30 costs $9.25 a month in Cleveland.

But the political and economic fires are burning in Lansing, well before the company files for its rate increase. This is a traumatic election year for politicians, whose fears have been at least partially justified by the scandals in high places which, in turn, have created a growing cynicism and distrust among the voters.

Michigan's unemployment rate is hovering around 10 percent, a sorry fact of life. But tying together economic desperation and political fear militates against any increase in rates controlled by the state.

Other politicians and bureaucrats in other places have made it possible for private communications companies to establish cream skimming services between major cities for businesses. Thus Michigan Bell is forced to seek increases in the rates of residential and other low volume users.

Still the demand for more services continues in Michigan. The company already has planned a $420 million construction program in Michigan this year.

President David K. Easlick said the effort will be toward meeting the demand-earnings would ordinarily encourage an investment of this magnitude.

The company expects to add 185,000 telephones in Michigan this year, bringing the total to more than 5.3 million, or slightly more than one for every two persons in Michigan. It anticipates handling more than 9.6 billion local and long distance calls this year, up from 8.9 billion in 1973.

While weighing the state's economic plight and the political realities of an election year, we urge the state commission to weigh the equally compelling financial problems of the state's largest utility.

Deplores job loss

Ford blames Nixon for district's woes

By TOM OCHILTREE
Enterprise-Roman Washington Bureau Chief

Rep. William D. Ford (D-15th District), insists workers in his congressional district face "almost total economic disaster" as a result of the economic slowdown which he laid at the door of President Nixon.

In an analysis inserted recently in the Congressional Record, Ford said Michigan, one of the nation's most highly industrialized states, now has almost a half million men out of work which represents an unemployment rate of 10.6 percent, the highest in the nation.

The auto plant layoffs growing out of the energy crisis have caused this situation, Ford said. He criticized President Nixon for characterizing the energy crisis as no longer a crisis but only a problem and added:

"The number of people who are unemployed in one part of my district—the area which encompasses Garden City, Inkster, Romulus, Wayne and parts of Westland and Belleville has increased by 272 per cent since February, 1973, and unemployment for my entire district for the same period was up 140 per cent."

He failed to see how any of President

Nixon's remaining followers can take comfort by claiming that the President's current unpopularity is due, not so much to Watergate, but to inflation and unemployment.

In Ford's view, this was like taking comfort from an out-of-the-frying-pan-into-the-fire situation.

Declaring many Americans have lost confidence in this administration because of problems like unemployment, Ford said:

"This is an issue which has plagued our country ever since Mr. Nixon became President, and it is a problem to which he has constantly failed to respond."

Ford will speak on the question of energy as it relates to productivity and jobs at tomorrow's luncheon-meeting of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce—and is scheduled to address the First Friday Club of Western Wayne County next month...again, on the question of jobs and peoples' faith in government.

The taxpayer pays for the questionnaire

Legislators claim it helps them in decision making

By Bob Berg

Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau Chief

One of the reasons for the rising cost of operating the Legislature in recent years has been the mushrooming use of questionnaires by members of the House and Senate.

The rationale behind them is that they help a legislator find out how his district feels about issues facing the Legislature. THEY ARE PRINTED at state expense and then mailed out at state expense under a bulk mailing permit to the legislator's district. House members generally mail out 30,000 or so while senators will mail out two or three times as many.

The mailing cost is 6.1 cents per piece of mail, so it can run into a sizeable amount.

The return rate for questionnaires can vary from 5 to 10 percent of those mailed out.

THEY GENERALLY feature a picture or two of the lawmaker, a brief note explaining the questionnaire and a list of questions to be answered either yes or no. The questions usually deal with issues with which the legislator will be working, though there are exceptions.

There is one big catch, however, to these questionnaires. No one believes they are a scientific survey of the district and few contend they give anything approaching an accurate reading of sentiment on an issue.

"Let's face it," says one legislative aide who would be fired if the lawmakers heard his analysis. "They're mainly a public relations gimmick. The people in the district are flattered that they're being asked for their opinion. But nobody thinks they give an accurate reading of the district."

William Knottke, an aide to House Republicans, isn't as critical.

valuable. They give you an idea of what the issues are and what people are thinking about. They have a purpose."

Professional pollsters — people paid to figure out how an area thinks on a given issue—say the great fallacy of the questionnaire is that it doesn't provide a random sample. To be accurate, any sort of poll must be on a completely random basis with answers from every spectrum of a district or area.

"The types that send back the answers are the people who are more interested in politics and government," says Fred

'They're mainly
a public relations gimmick.'

Steeper, of Market Opinion Research in Detroit. "You have a disproportionate number of middle aged people who are high school and college educated."

"THEY MIGHT BE able to note trends, but they serve the interest of the legislator more in terms of contacting voters. Actually, they are campaign material."

The people who return them generally, then, are the same ones more likely to be vocal about politics and write letters to the editor. A Market Opinion Research study after the 1964 election showed that if only people who wrote letters to the editor had voted, Barry Goldwater would have taken 70 per cent of the vote.

At least one lawmaker says his questionnaires do give him a good idea of sentiment in his district, despite what the experts say.

"MY CASE MAY be somewhat unusual," says Rep. Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee. "But I know a great many people in my district. When they return the questionnaire, I can tell what the trends are by how the individuals feel. In my district, at least, it's a valid test."

One Senator was rather outspoken about questionnaires earlier this year, though he recanted when he saw his words in print.

James Gray, D-Warren, told a reporter the main function of a questionnaire "is to provide a nice mailing list so I can write back to say 'Thanks for answering my idiotic questions, you nuts.'"

Gray just finished sending out questionnaires to 69,000 residents of the new Senate district he will be running in this fall. The people he hopes will elect him are asked to guide him in writing state legislation by answering questions such as:

— "Have you won any money in the Michigan lottery?"
— "Are your federal taxes too high?"
— "Do you think there is a better system of government than the one we are using in our country today?"
— "Do you feel that most politicians are 'crooks'?"

IT IS, OF COURSE, an honorable desire on the part of officeholders to want to find out what their constituents think. But the questionnaire isn't the only way to find out. A legislator who truly wanted to learn what they thought could commission a poll and save some money in the process. Of course, they wouldn't get all the publicity. But they'd get a better idea of how their district really felt.

A poll in a House district can cost from $1,500 for a bare bones effort up to $5,000 for a really in depth poll. The postage alone on a mailing of 30,000 is $1,830 and it costs roughly $500 to $700 more to have it printed and put together.

Then they'd have a real idea of how their constituents felt. But their constituents might not have such a good idea of who their legislator was come election time. Every little bit of publicity helps.

Faust's day Friends honor a friend

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Enterprise-Roman Editor

Ten years ago William Faust came within a whisper of winning the 15th District state senatorial seat in Western Wayne County.

Two years later he upset incumbent State Sen. Terry Troutt to grab the 13th District state senatorial seat in Western Wayne County.

And two weeks ago nearly 1,000 "friends of Bill Faust" turned out for a birthday party to honor the wheelchair-confined state senator from Westland.

"WHAT CAN I say about such a grand turnout of district citizens. I am especially honored to see Republicans here at my party," the Democratic legislator said with a smile.

Republican Gov. William Milliken, also on the invitation list, was busy at a GOP rally in Mount Clemens.

"If the governor hadn't committed himself to the Mount Clemens meeting, he'd be here. Everybody likes Bill Faust," a member of the party committee said.

AND SEIZING THE opportunity to make his presence known was Sander Levin, the front-running Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

The "Friends of Bill Faust" included delegations from Romulus, Belleville, Sumpter and Van Buren townships.

And they included Congressman Ford and State Rep. Gary Owen. "We're here to honor an outstanding legislator," the two equally respected Democrats stressed.

THE LARGEST SINGLE area turnout would have to be the Romulus delegation, spotlighted with the friendly mood set by Troutt and Hyle Carmichael.

It was that kind of a birthday salute...everyone was in a friendly mood.

WAYNE MAYOR Pat Norton, chairman of the Faust birthday party, said: "Senator Faust is a credit to the district he represents and to the Michigan Senate. We're proud of his accomplishments and determination to serve the people."

THE SENATOR has been confined to a wheelchair since August, 1966. He sustained crippling injuries from an auto accident - several weeks before his stunning primary upset over then Sen. Troutt, who now serves as mayor of Romulus.

As for future plans, Faust, now 45, will seek a third Senate term this year — unless other "unknown plans come to light."

FAUST'S FIRST bid for a congressional seat came in a stirring showdown race with present Congressman Ford—in the old 15th district.

TWO YEARS AGO he shocked district Democrats by filing for the primary race...again, to compete against Ford. But hours before the filing deadline, he withdrew his name from the contest.

"If Faust had challenged Ford in the 1972 primary, it would have split the party right down the middle. He decided against running for the good of the party," a close source confided.

But the rumors still persist that when the time comes for Ford to move on to higher office, the congressional seat will be "reserved" for Faust.

Faust, a University of Michigan journalism graduate at one time served as publisher of the old Wayne Dispatch and editor of the Wayne Eagle.

HE WAS APPOINTED to the former Nankin Township Board in 1960. Three years later he won the supervisor's post in Nankin, now Westland.

Though confined to a wheelchair, Faust maintains a brisk political pace—and the turnout at the Wayne Knights of Columbus Hall was an indication of the support the former Jaycee "Young Man of the Year" still possesses.

Police were never able to track down the hit-run driver of the car that forced Faust's vehicle off a Washtenaw County road back in 1966. In that accident, he suffered severe injuries to his hips, leaving him partially crippled.

AT HIS BIRTHDAY party, Faust gave no indication that he was handicapped.

"Serving the people in government is better than any medicine a doctor could prescribe," he said.

Wayne Mayor Norton said: "Bill's a great friend and senator...he's got a great 'future' in politics."

Bill aims at viaduct danger

By EDUARDE E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

The malicious practice of dropping objects from bridges and highway overpasses onto traffic below is the subject of a bill recently passed by the House and sent to the Senate. The bill would make it a misdemeanor to loiter on a bridge or overpass. Those guilty of loitering could be punished as disorderly persons.

'Serious injury and even death, as well as damage to vehicles, have resulted from cases in which motorists were the targets of objects dropped or thrown by persons standing on a bridge or highway overpass.

The House bill would help to reduce or eliminate such harassment. Under the proposed law, those loitering on bridges and overpasses could be removed by authorities to protect motorists passing below.

IT IS NOT THE object of the bill to prevent an ordinary, innocent citizen from stopping on a bridge or overpass, especially if he is on a pedestrian walkway, but rather to remove suspicious persons.

Designed to solve another problem and reduce pollution of public waters is a House-approved bill requiring all marinas, yacht clubs, docks and wharves used for mooring watercraft equipped with that three-quarters of the freighters are discharging wastes directly into the lakes. The effect of the sewage discharge is being felt keenly in harbors and narrow channels, such as the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers.

HOPEFULLY, IF ALL docks and wharves used by

'Serious injury and even death...have resulted.'

marine toilet facilities to provide pumping apparatus

There is a state law which requires that watercraft with marine toilets must have holding tanks for the wastes. Owners of recreational boats have been cooperative in complying with the law, but have had difficulty finding a marina or other mooring with pumping facilities.

However, the main problem is lake freighters. The Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Water Management has estimated the freighters in Michigan ports offer the pump out service, more of the ships will install and use holding tanks.

The bill is under consideration in the Senate.

Also passed by the House and sent to the Senate was a measure which would allow an employee to file a malpractice lawsuit against the employer's medical personnel who treat him for a workmen's compensation injury. Presently, this cannot be done.

It was felt by supporters of the bill that any injured person who seeks medical attention should have the legal right to expect competence on the part of the professional medical personnel and that because the medical personnel are fellow employees it should not alter the situation or eliminate the injured party's right to a malpractice action in addition to his workmen's compensation claim.

IT CAN ALSO be argued that denial of the right to a malpractice action for those employees who are treated by company - compensated medical personnel is unfair since there is no such denial if the injured employee is treated by some other doctor.

Also sent to the Senate was a bill to allow townships which contract with the county road commission, to issue bonds for road construction and maintenance for up to 10 per cent of the assessed equalized valuation of the township. The limit now is five per cent. Because of increasing costs, a number of townships have found that the five per cent restriction prevents them from raising sufficient funds to pay their share of the road costs.

Beauty and the Birds is Garden Club topic

Guests of honor at the Van Buren Garden Club meeting held at home of Mrs. Edward Kapelanski of Belleville were Mrs. Marcom, a coordinator of the Belleville Area Girl Scouts; Judith Baker, leader of junior troop 487; and Antoinette Baker and Kimberly McMillan, junior scouts. Girl Scout Troop 487 will be helping the garden club this spring and summer in its care of the Belleville Library grounds in order to earn a special badge.

The program for the day, "For Beauty and the Birds," was presented by Mrs. Kapelanski, Jean Randall, Mrs. T. Posthumous and Mrs. Clifford C. Smith.

Among trees and shrubs attractive to birds, Mrs. Kapelanski explained, are the black cherry, nannyberry, hawthorne, gray dogwood, nightshade, American bittersweet and honeysuckle. She also demonstrated how bluebird houses could be made from plastic bottles and suggested that a half-dozen be placed in the surrounding countryside with a check being made during the summer to see how many bird families had moved in.

THE METHOD of pruning lilacs and roses was demonstrated by Mrs. Randall who also told about the camellia show she had attended during her recent trip to California. Mrs. Randall's son, James, an amateur grower, is president of this year's camellia show in Sacramento. The show, similar to the rose show with a float parade, is done on a smaller scale.

Another recent western visitor, Mrs. Smith told of her visit to the White Mountains east of Bishop, Calif., home of the ancient bristlecone pines. Scattered groves of these pines, she said, grow at high altitudes in the arid mountains of several western states, ranging from Colorado on but their maximum age is attained in the far west where their life spans 40 or more centuries.

Because of their ability to withstand drought, she continued, the trees make excellent bonsai specimens but, because of their scarcity, are very expensive.

THE NEXT speaker, Mrs. Posthumous, told of trees and shrubs which should be carefully chosen for shape, size and ease of upkeep since a large, dead tree 60 ft. high costs close to $1,000 for removal. A small tree, she said, soon catches up with a large one in growth. Some of the favorable trees for beautifying the home grounds are locusts, sugar, red and Norway maples, white oak and mountain ash. Hickory nut is good locally, she explained, but Wayne County is as far north as it should be planted.

The state, she continued, has appropriated money to try to grow an elm tree free of disease. One has been perfected with a fair amount of resistance but is not yet on the market. Detroit alone cuts down nearly 10,000 trees each year with figures showing half the elms now gone.

The next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Nell

Van Wormer of Juniper Drive at 1 p.m. April 30. This is to be a show and tell meeting when members will describe their favorite gardening pastime. The nominating committee will also be selected.

Non-members wishing to join are welcome and should contact Mrs. Kapelanski at 697-8327.

VOLUNTEER HONORED — Recognition of five years of voluntary service to the YWCA was given to Mrs. Jeannie Ursery (right) who with Mrs. Beverly McAnally (center) was one of the founders of the Romulus YWCA Day Nursery.

The Y's volunteer pin was presented by Mrs. Mary Willoughby (left), program director of the Western Wayne County YWCA, during a meeting of the Southern Council at Wayne County General Hospital.

The Book Nook

Library has two new books for fans of the short story

Many readers find lengthy volumes of print just a bit too much for them to handle and prefer condensed novels to full-length versions. Short stories may be just the answer for those who like to complete their reading in one sitting.

The Romulus Library has a couple such books this week; one dealing with life in the south and the other with urban life in the early 1900s.

"A Simple Act of Kindness; a Novel" by Winston Estes. When Pete Hamilton visits the widow of a war buddy he becomes drawn into her bitter conflict with her wealthy mother-in-law.

Potatoes and pork casserole

A hearty casserole extends a warm welcome to winter appetites. It also provides a nutritious meal-in-a-dish when the foods that fill it are selected with an eye to nutritive value as well as flavor. Meaty casseroles score high on both these points.

When tasty, boneless pork cubed steaks are left whole and layered in a casserole of scalloped potatoes, a delicious knife-and-fork entree results, says Reba Staggs of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Pork and Potato Scallop

6 pork cubed steaks (2 to 2½ pounds)
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
5 cups thinly sliced potatoes
1 cup milk
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 tablespoon diced pimiento
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Brown steaks on both sides in lard or drippings. Place half the sliced potatoes in a 2½-quart casserole and top with 3 pork cubed steaks. Place remaining potatoes on cubed steaks and top with remaining steaks. Stir milk into soup. Add onion, pimiento, salt and pepper and pour over steaks and potatoes. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour and 15 minutes. Remove cover and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until potatoes are tender. 6 servings.

NON-FICTION

"Informal Entertaining Country Style" by Nell Nichols. A complete guide to entertaining with over 300 recipes for everything from a pancake buffet to a formal dinner and with general advice on entertaining graciously.

"The Parlour Song Book" by Michael Turner. Examines the types and themes of Victorian parlor songs and presents a collection of works popular with British and American families.

"A Guide to Unusual Vacation" by Wilbur Cross. Provides full information on a host of offbeat vacations ranging from shooting the rapids in the Grand Canyon to trekking through Wales on a pony.

"Art Flick's Master Fly-tying Guide" by Arthur Flick. Nine experienced fishermen explain their methods of tying flies, providing a representative selection of styles and patterns.

Leftover egg recipes are varied, good

The cost of eggs has the homemaker carefully planning ways to use every leftover painted Easter egg, said Marilyn Mook, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University.

Keep the eggs refrigerated, and if you do have a few eggs to use up, be creative and plan your meals or favorite dishes around them. You might try chopping the eggs up and using them in casseroles, molded vegetable salads and meat loaves. Eggs provide quality protein and help you save money by stretching your meat dishes.

Miss Mook also suggests chopping the eggs and mixing them in with chicken or tuna salads. Add a little variety to sandwiches by mixing chopped eggs, meat and cheese and heating under the broiler.

"If your family likes creamed dishes," the specialist says, "surprise them with creamed ham and eggs on biscuits. Even vegetable dishes can be perked up by adding eggs for variety in taste and color."

You may want to keep a few around just for snacks or mix the egg yolks with mayonnaise, celery, pickles and leftover meat and stuff the remaining egg whites. Stuffed eggs are filling and they provide you with quality nutrients.

Bride-elect honored at showers

THE MARTINSVILLE Road home of the Al Sumas was a busy place the first week-end in April with the lady of the house, Marguerite, playing hostess at two showers. Honoring her daughter, Michelle, who's to be a spring bride, the party was given in two parts to accommodate a host of relatives and friends.

On April 5, 40 guests from Belleville, Romulus, Livonia, Westland, Maybee, Carleton, Ypsilanti and Willis honored the bride-elect and her fiancé, Will Bujak of Belleville.

Card bingo was the evening entertainment followed by a buffet supper with Renelle Kenyon of Ypsilanti and Mary Ann Emerson of Belleville assisting. Also serving punch and coffee were the honoree's four sisters, Mary Ann, Theresa, Catherine and Frances, co-hostesses at the party.

While the prospective bride and groom opened their gifts door prizes were awarded to Frances Blaszk of Willis; Mary Kopas, Loretta Renke, Mary Wisniewski and Mary Lee Treder of Romulus; Rosemary Korgal and Lee Smith of Belleville, and Carol Culbert of Maybee.

Phase two of the shower took place Sunday afternoon with 38 relatives coming in from Detroit, Dearborn Heights, Novi and neighboring cities.

The hostess' niece, Eleanor Schuler of Lincoln Park, made the centerpiece which were given as door prizes.

Michelle and Will plan to be married April 26 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Progressive dinner is April fun

THE MERRY MAKERS from Trinity Episcopal Church, 58 in all, gathered at the Venetian Avenue home of Rev. and Mrs. David Lee April 6 for the kick-off to a progressive dinner. The Lees served wine punch and hors d'oeuvres after which the group boarded a bus (borrowed from another church) and headed into town and the home of Rae and Betty Thom on Liberty Street where the salad course was served.

Then it was onto Joe and Marlene Dapsi's place on Willis Road for the entrée — Italian spaghetti complete with hot garlic bread and bread sticks. Tom Scothorn spied the piano and that was enough to get things off to a musical start with George Wilhelm sharing vocal honors with him.

For the finale, the Jeff Gilliams welcomed the entourage to their home on Savage Road, where homemade burgundy cherry ice cream and cookies were awaiting their pleasure.

The evening fun was spearheaded by Scotty Grishaber, who heads the Merry Makers, the new name chosen for the group formerly known as the fellowship commission.

Kosins return from the Islands

TWO OF the area's most beautiful tans are being sported by Chet and Mary Kosin who picked up their "golden glow" while vacationing in Hawaii. The Kosins left April 1 from Chicago's O'Hare Airport where they joined their charter flight for Honolulu. Also on board was Keith Bruder of Chicago, the son of their Elwell Road neighbors, Al and Shirley Straub.

As guests of Maremont Corp., they spent nine days at the Hilton Hawaiian Village. A number of tours were scheduled for the group but Chet and Mary only participated in the city tour and catamaran sail (this being their third trip to the islands.)

Setting out on their own in a rented car, they re-visited their favorite beaches: Makapu for body surfing and Makaha for swimming and surfing. Their evenings included the stock car races at Barber's point, a "hukilau" (steak fry) on the beach, a Hawaiian luau, dinner and entertainment at Kan Raku (a Japanese tea house), dinner at the Kahala Hilton, and a farewell banquet at the Halekulani Hotel.

and trim of Nottingham lace. Her silk illusion veil drifted to finger-tip length from a crescent headpiece and a colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, white fraisia and baby's breath completed her bridal finery.

Nancy Turner was her sister's maid of honor with another sister, Jennifer Turner, and the bridegroom's sister, Linda Amerman, serving as bridesmaids. They wore medium blue frocks of imported jersey marocaine with matching headgear and carried nosegays of daffodils, miniature blue carnations, cornflowers and miniature white pinocchio mums.

William Garrett Walton Jr. of South Boston, Va. was asked to be best man. Groomsmen were Stephen F. Mason and John Zerkle, both of Charlottesville, Va.; William Hidenfelter of Belleville; and James A. Amerman II, the bridegroom's cousin from Belleville.

THE MOTHER of the bride was attired in an A-line empire gown of mint green jersey maracaine with braided trim at the neckline and waist. Mrs. Amerman, the bridegroom's mother, chose to wear a gown of pale blue jersey with matching jacket. Both mothers were presented with cymbidium orchids to harmonize with their dresses.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Guests attending from this area included Mr. and Mrs. Alton D. Amerman of Ypsilanti and Dr. John W. Woods of Farmington Hills, grandfathers of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Amerman and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Amerman of Belleville; and Mrs. Anne Amerman and daughter, Susan of Ann Arbor.

A rehearsal dinner for 45 guests was held at Evans Farm Inn at McLean, Va. the evening preceding the wedding and was hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

The newlyweds are now at home at Lewes, Delaware where the bridegroom is serving with the U.S. Navy.

Sue Burcroff attends FHA-HERO Week

A Romulus woman, Susan Burcroff of 35000 Grant Rd., was one of 15 state officers participating in the National Future Homemakers of America-HERO Week.

Miss Burcroff, who attends Romulus High School, is the current state vice-president of FHA.

Using the theme "Impact '74" she joined some half-million other girls and boys across the country in demonstrating projects that are challenging, stimulating and of real value to youth in preparation for future responsibilities.

"We have a new approach to program planning," said Cheryl Snyder, state president from Fulton-Middleton High School. "Working with our 'Program Action Impact kit, developed by youth and introduced to chapters this year, is exciting. We analyze member concerns and then develop what we call 'in-depth' projects that are related to our home economics classroom study.

"Most people have no idea of what is taught in home economics classes today," she continued. "They think of home economics as cooking and sewing and of Future Homemakers of America as just another 'fun and games' club. During National FHA-HERO Week we hoped to impress on people that Future Homemakers of America, as a part of home economics education, provides opportunities for us to learn, to know, to care and to do the things that help prepare us for future living."

With abandoned housing bill

Ford tries to solve urban blight problem

Congressman William D. Romulus' and Van Buren's five congressmen from the neighborhood corporation" to deal created by foreclosures by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Veterans become especially acute in two cities in Ford's district — Ford (D-15th District) has his problems due to urban blight. The Democrat was one of which would create a "neigh- The abandonments were and Urban Development THE PROBLEM has Taylor and Romulus — as well as in Detroit and other communities throughout the nation.

"Our legislation is entitled The Abandonment Disaster Demonstration Relief Act," Ford said. "It would establish a 'Neighborhood corporation' at the federal level to deal specifically with abandoned housing units."

Joining Congressman Ford in sponsoring the bill were Reps. Charles Diggs, John D. Dingell, Lucien N. Nedzi, John Conyers and Martha Griffiths.

"As of the end of 1973 HUD reported ownership of more than 75,000 repossessed units throughout the country, including some 12,000 in the Detroit area," Ford said.

FIGURES ARE considerably higher, though, since homes are often abandoned for months before they are repossessed, he added. The annual costs of these defaulted mortgages, total an estimated $2 billion.

"Our proposed legislation would authorize the new 'neighborhood corporation' to secure ownership and possession of abandoned housing units almost immediately, and to renovate them and put them back on the market quickly either for sale or rent," Ford said. "The corporation would be authorized to set mortgages and rental rates below the normal market level."

"The corporation also would be authorized to hold land for redevelopment and to construct new housing in accordance with local housing plans or community development programs."

"In addition, housing units now owned by HUD or the VA would be turned over to the corporation after payment of the remaining mortgage amount or the fair market value, whichever is less."

FORD ADDED that the corporation would be funded through issuance of $35 million worth of stock, which the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury would be required to purchase. Another $350 million could be raised through issuance of debt obligations, which the treasury would be authorized, but not obligated, to buy.

"Our legislation also offers an alternative to the problem of self-perpetuating federal programs which prove to be failures, but are difficult to eliminate," Ford added. "The corporation would be authorized to operate five-year demonstration programs in three metropolitan housing areas. If the approach is successful, the corporation would be extended. If not, it would be phased out at the end of five years."

The three target areas would be chosen on the basis of the seriousness of their abandoned-home problem, and on the proposed cooperation of the major city in the market area.

"The corporation would be authorized, also, to work closely with suburban communities within the metropolitan area," the congressman emphasized. "We exceedingly are optimistic that this approach would enable Detroit and its surrounding suburbs to stop the spread of blighted areas which is being caused by these abandoned homes."

"IN A ROMULUS subdivision of about 215 homes, nearly 50 were vacant at last count — some 25 percent of the total."

"These houses have become the objects of almost unbelievable vandalism. Windows are broken, doors smashed, exterior bricks and siding ripped off, interiors damaged and looted."

"They are neighborhood eyesores which reduce property values and discourage the owners of nearby homes from maintaining their properties. The empty homes attract children and teen-agers, and are a real danger to community health and safety. It is a spreading cancer of deterioration."

A similar bill has been introduced in the Senate by Philip Hart (D-Mich.) and the coalition of Michiganders are planning to seek additional support to bring the legislation to a vote as soon as possible.

Township terminates agreement

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees plans to terminate an agreement with its planning consultant.

The Detroit firm of Parkins, Rodgers and Associates has been Van Buren's planning consultant for the last several years.

The trustees decided to terminate the agreement based on a recommendation of the Van Buren Planning Commission.

WATER FLOODS PROPERTY — Clogged roads and drain ditches along Bog Road in Van Buren Township caused storm water to flood the front and sides of the home and property of Stanley B. Chmura at 50345 Bog Rd. The water is 18 inches deep on the east, west and north sides of Chmura's property. Chmura, who is a retired postal employee, said that complaints to Wayne County Road Commission officials have been unsuccessful. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

This is an increase over February figures when 30 building permits were issued for $77,364 in construction. Fees collected were $409.

There were three one-family dwellings, seven garage and carport, and three addition permits issued during March.

Residential building amounted to $111,772 of the month's total construction cost. The remainder, $102,600, was in commercial building.

Pickup available for city clean up

Residents participating in Romulus' clean-up campaign can have their refuse removed by the city's regular rubbish contractor.

The contractor works between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, servicing one of four areas in the city each day.

On Monday, the contractor works in the area west of Merriman Road and north of I-94.

On Tuesdays the contractor is west of Merriman Road and south of the freeway.

On Wednesdays the contractor services the area east of Merriman and south of the freeway with Thursdays set aside for the area north of I-94 and east of Merriman Road.

To have rubbish moved from the home, a resident must have it piled at the curb either in metal or plastic cans or sealed plastic bags.

Parcels must not exceed 30 gallons in capacity and must not weigh more than 60 pounds.

The contractor will remove boxes that will not fall apart when lifted, bundled branches, appliances, furniture and business equipment which does not exceed or can be reduced readily to less than 5 1/2 feet on any dimension and weighs less than 175 pounds.

Information on the rubbish program can be obtained by calling American Rubbish Removal at 729-0700 during the week.

Dance poses challenge for local high schools

A 1950 style dance marathon and sock hop is the double-header planned by the Romulus High School class of 1975 for April 26 and 27.

The group also is offering a big challenge to other schools in conjunction with the event. Other classes in the metropolitan Detroit area have been challenged to out dance the Romulus class in the marathon event, according to class spokesmen. A $20 first prize is being offered for the winning marathon (24-hour) team; second place gets $15 and third place $10. Many other prizes are being offered for the most authentic 1950's dress and for winning other games and contests at the hop.

Admission will be $3 per couple for the dance marathon and $1 per person for the sock hop.

Dancers planning to enter the dance competition should be at the high school, 9650

Wayne Rd., at 6:30 p.m. for instructions. The dance will start at 7 p.m.

For additional information, call Romulus High School at 941-2170.

Offered as part of the tournament will be $2,900 in prizes, including an $800 first prize and a $400 second prize.

STORAGE-MINDED BAR — A decorative bar counter is a storage-minded addition to cramped surroundings, opening up to reveal space large enough to store a bicycle or other sporting goods. The double doors can accommodate a trunk or two, if the need arises.

Homeowners use furnishings as spaces for extra storage

Did you ever hear of a new home or apartment dweller complain of too much storage space? Chances are very small and most of us struggle to make do with what's available.

For space-seekers who feel they've squeezed the last inch from the closet or the new modular wall unit, designers have some suggestions to increase storage areas in your home.

Any end tables, particularly round ones, covered with a to-the-floor fabric skirt can be used to hide unwieldy boxes or packages without attracting attention.

ANY OPEN, decorative shelves placed midway up a

New room can have durability

For more space at home, add a room. It's cheaper than moving to a larger house, and the improvement will add to the value to your property. Builders and building materials dealers report a lively business in room additions during this "tight money" period. They report also that a growing number of these additions are featuring hardboard siding. This type of siding, available in many patterns, textures and finishes, has proved popular with builders and homeowners because its weatherability and durability have been established.

Mastone brand Bayside, a multi-level lap siding with a woody surface texture, is an exterior product that appeals to many. The 12-inch wide strips are 16 feet long, and can be applied quickly. Bayside can be used for mansard roof applications.

For more information on hardboard sidings, send a postcard to the Masonite Home Service Bureau, Box B, Chicago, Ill. 60690.

Do-it-yourselfers grow as dollar's value fades

More and more people are into do-it-yourself these days as one way of combating the high cost of living. The Labor Department reports that consumer prices rose 8.8 percent in 1973, the sharpest annual increase since 1947 when wartime controls were lifted and consumer demand sent prices up 9 per cent for the year.

The Consumer Price Index at the end of last year was 138.5 against a base of 100 in 1967. What it means to consumers is that it now costs $138.50 to purchase what would have cost $100 in 1967.

In an effort to save on the costs of labor, many home handymen are undertaking home remodeling projects ranging from add-a-room to window replacement. The home-improvement market was established at more than $22 billion in 1973 by the Bureau of Building Marketing Research.

SOME HOMEOWNERS approach the job of replacing old windows with trepidation, feeling it can only be handled by an expert carpenter. But any experienced handyman who has successfully completed other jobs around the house should be able to finish a remodeling project of this kind.

When an old window is removed, there's a rough opening to be filled just as there is in new construction. In most cases, stock-sized windows to fit the opening can be purchased from local building supply dealers.

However, some carpentry work will be required, if the new windows are too small for the opening. If it's too wide, vertical trimmer studs will have to be installed to narrow the opening. If the original window is unusually tall, the opening can be shortened at the bottom with 2 by 4 framing, covered with plywood sheathing on the outside and with pieces of gypsum board inside.

Quality windows, such as a vinyl-clad wood window, have a factory-installed rigid vinyl flange around the outside of the frame with pre-drilled holes to simplify nailing.

AFTER THE window is set place, it is nailed at one corner. It is then squared and leveled before the rest of the nails are driven.

Roof's color gives insight into feeling

Do you feel at home in your house? Psychologically, it may be because you've chosen house colors that reflect your personality and make you comfortable.

Despite a variety of expert opinion on how to measure and interpret color preferences, certain colors do have a "feel" that seems to say what they mean. For example, the psychological Luscher Color Test, a German text by Max Luscher translated by Ian Scott and published by Random House, notes that "the dark blue of the night sky" represents rest and calm, while "the bright yellow of daylight" is considered cheering and hopeful.

The text describes red as the color of "vitality" and "conquest," green indicates "pride and perseverance," and brown is seen as "sensual, physical" color showing "the importance placed on roots, hearth and home."

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL appeal of color, and its increasing importance in interior and exterior home decor are evidenced by the availability of many building materials—roofing, for example—in a variety of beautiful new hues. Even the current emphasis on ecology has been translated into fashionable colors.

The Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association says that among the most popular roofing colors today are "earth tones." They encompass a wide spectrum of greens, browns, olives and slates, and are especially effective in the "textured" asphalt shingles which have a rustic look.

Bolder, more natural, longer-lasting shingle colors are the result of scientific improvements. Another advance is a fungus-and-algae-resistant white asphalt shingle that retards the growth of these bacteria in hot, humid areas like the South.

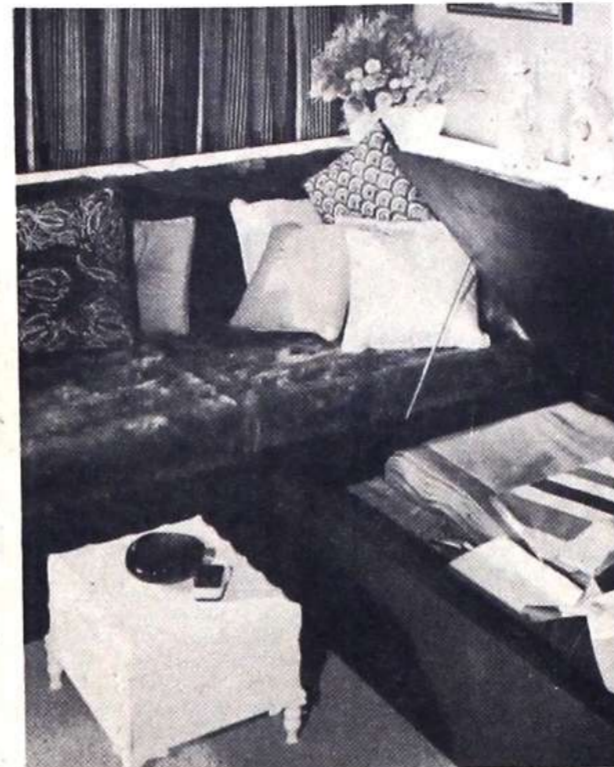

Fungi and algae commonly cause staining of white roofs; whereas chemically treated shingles are designed to stay white longer.

Improve your HOME

wall can turn into storage. Simply cover the space below with a decorative screen or drape fabric like a curtain from the underside of the shelf.

COUCH IS HIDEOUT — Seating proves not only to be comfortable, but functional in this handy addition to homes or apartments lacking closet space. Covered with fake fur, it opens up to accommodate linens and other bedding items. The foam rubber cushions also offer sleeping space for visitors.

Table can fill gap in vacant rooms

Many homemakers who have gazed at any empty spot along a wall, beside a chair, or in front of a sofa and wondered what she could put there to complete her decorating plan.

The answer most likely is an accent or occasional table, an item which has been popular on the furnishing scene since ancient times, according to an interior design consultant.

In the days of the Greeks and Romans, tripod-legged tables were used to hold incense burners, urns, and statuary. Later accent tables became places for religious objects, candelabra, and planters.

Recent times have seen accent tables used to hold telephones, lamps, smoking paraphernalia, the family photo gallery, handsome art books, magazines, and TV snacks.

While a good accent table should be functional, it doesn't have to be expensive.

Tables can have clustered column legs, aprons, and scroll-like spandrels have the appearance of hand-hammered black wrought iron, while the tops look like inlaid wood blocks with a hand-rubbed finish.

Made of furniture quality polymers, the tables can be durably constructed and strong enough to support anything that might normally be placed on a table.

In addition, some are finished with a top coat that makes them alcohol and stain resistant.

Heart class offers training

The second in a series of monthly training sessions of a cardio-pulmonary classes for Van Buren Township residents will be held at 7 p.m. May 9.

The classes are being held at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., under the direction of George Heifner, director of the township's civil defense program.

"Cardio-pulmonary resuscitation is an emergency first aid procedure, which requires no equipment and combines direct artificial respiration and circulation," Heifner said.

The training instruction is made available by the Michigan Heart Association through its cardio-pulmonary resuscitation classes and is aimed at reducing the number rezoning requests to face hearings

The Van Buren Township Planning Commission has ordered public hearings be held on two separate rezoning petitions involving commercial developments in the township.

The dates of the public hearings will be scheduled as soon as the petitioners pay the fees required for the hearings.

Walter Traskos of 1210 Sumpter Rd., owner of a lumber mill at Sumpter and Hull roads is asking that his lot on Hull Road be rezoned to local business to conform with the front lot on Sumpter Road. The latter lot had been rezoned by the planning commission. The Hull Road site is zoned residential.

Ben Stein of Southfield, owner of 22.5 acres of land at Belleville and Tyler roads has requested that the property be rezoned from residential to a general business classification. Stein told the planning commission that he wants to build a 10-acre shopping center and possibly a car dealership, restaurant and bank on the remaining portion of the land parcel.

In another rezoning request, filed by Allen Buchanan and Arthur Nelson of Westland, owners of a 1.5 acre land parcel on Ecorse Road west of Hannan Road, the commission held the request to be spot zoning. The panel recommended that Buchanan and Nelson talk to the neighbors in an attempt to acquire a 10-acre strip of land on Ecorse Road.

The duo had sought a rezoning from residential to light industry for a warehouse.

In other matters, the commission denied the rezoning request of Harold Smith of 142 Liberty St., Belleville.

Smith had sought a rezoning from single-family to multiple-family property on East Huron River Drive. He said he would build one home on the lake and some 22 apartments in the rear. The commission ruled that there was not enough land in the parcel to include multiple dwellings.

Official seeks clean up

April is "Clean Up Fix Up Month" in Van Buren Township.

Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer recently signed a proclamation asking residents to actively support the campaign and stressed that "clean up is a year-around program in which continuous effort is required to attain a more beautiful community."

Free, special trash pick ups will be made in the area west of Belleville and Sumpter roads tomorrow and Friday. Special pick-up service will be provided on May 2 and 3 for the area east of Belleville and Sumpter roads.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, JR. - DIRECTORS

When McKinley was in Congress, he boarded a street car; took the only seat available. Soon after, a frail working woman boarded the car and stood in front of a Congressman colleague. The man hid behind his newspaper; pretended not to see her. McKinley noticed it and gave her his seat. Years later, when McKinley was President, the ungallant, selfish Congressman was recommended for an ambassador's post. McKinley refused to appoint him. He feared the fellow would fail to extend common courtesies expected of an ambassador. The disappointed Congressman never knew why he did not get the appointment.

A prominent industrialist was considering a certain applicant for a important job. He invited the fellow to lunch. When the food was served, the industrialist noticed the man douse his food with salt and pepper before tasting it. In doing this, the man eliminated himself from the job. The industrialist feared that any man who would decide food needed more seasoning before tasting it, would be similarly impulsive in making decisions before knowing all the facts. The applicant often wondered why he failed to get the job.

Both stories are true. Both stories illustrate how other people's eyes see things about us that can haunt or hamper our hopes. It does pay, periodically, to see ourselves as others see us.

For parking lot

Trustees eye paving bids

A bid, submitted by Metropolitan Asphalt Co. Inc. of Romulus, for asphalt paving of a parking lot adjacent to Van Buren new town hall facility has been referred to the township engineers for study by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

The bid of $23,622.25 was the lowest of two proposals received by the township. The Morrison Co. submitted a bid of $28,451.65.

Other matters recently approved by the trustees included the employment of a field man for the township's water department. Interviews will be conducted to fill the post.

The trustees also approved a suggestion by Dave Wertz, water department manager, to retain the name "French Landing Dam" for the township's dam, located at the east end of the Belleville Lake.

The board also: —referred the water department's tap fee charge ordinance for water taps involving residents on Edgedale Drive to the township attorney for review.

—authorized the attendance of representatives from the township clerk's, treasurer's offices and water department at the American Records Management Association's seminar. The one-day seminar will be held May 8 at Mercy College.

—approved sending Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer and an other township official to Congressman William D.

Ford's upcoming conference to be held in Washington, D.C., June 19-22.

—agreed with the Detroit Edison Company for replacement of an amplifier at the French Landing Dam for a cost not to exceed $500.

Young children learn through experiencing

The children attending the New Nursery School in Belleville recently visited the Belleville branch of the U.S. Postal Service and they make frequent trips to the grocery store.

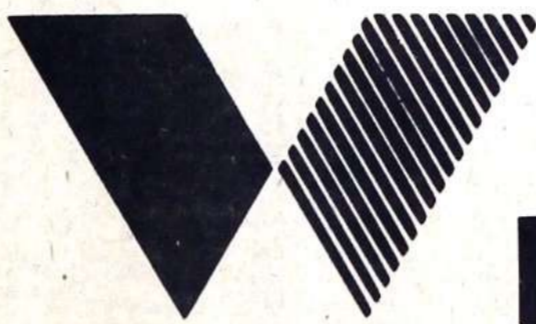

On a recent trip to the store, the children purchased the ingredients to make tossed salads.

"We did not experience any cut fingers and nothing tastes as good as a salad made by a four-year-old," said Mary Elizabeth Hoff, the teacher-director of the New Nursery School.

Teachers in the preschool training class at the nursery believe young children learn the best with first-hand experience.

"The children will never forget their recent trip to the fire station," Mrs. Hoff said. "Even in years to come, they will have the story they wrote and the book they made relating to this experience."

Others fight off anti-trust action

Chile invites return of major car manufacturer

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Enterprise Roman
Auto Writer

A country which had threatened the operation of a major U.S. automaker invited that company back as the major automakers were fighting off anti-trust action in the United States.

Chile's new military government signed a contract with the General Motors Corp. (GM) for the largest automaker to begin assembling automobiles in the country again on Thursday. GM had been plagued with labor troubles shortly after the election of Marxist President Salvador Allende in 1970, and pulled out of Chile after renting its $5 million assembly plant to Corfo, the government development agency.

Since the Allende government was overthrown in a military coup last September, the ruling powers in Chile had been courting GM.

Chile also is negotiating with Ford Motor Company to begin operations again at its $10 million plant. The automaker pulled out of the country in 1971 after losing $18 million over the previous two years.

Anti-trust

Meanwhile, Ford, GM and Chrysler Corp. attacked a proposal to break up the large firms in a hearing before the Senate Anti-trust and Monopoly Committee headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan, a Democrat.

The committee had been considering breaking up seven major industries, including the three largest automakers, to improve competition.

Ford Motor spokesman James W. Ford said such a move would result in higher prices and lower production and lower employment in the industry.

"Existing anti-trust law provides sufficient safeguards for the maintenance of competition in the new car market," he added.

Ford is the chief economist of Ford Motor Company.

GM changes

GM asked the same subcommittee last week to suspend further distribution of a publication containing what GM termed "False accusations misleading inferences, and erroneous conclusions" made at an earlier hearing of the subcommittee.

The publication contains charges that GM acted to suppress railroad transportation and street railway systems in the nation and assisted in the Nazi war effort during World War II.

The 67-page report was written by Bardford Shell, a staff attorney for the subcommittee and one of the counsels who brought a class action suit against GM's bus business in New York based on anti-trust claims.

EPA tests

Foreign-made autos took their knocks last week at the hand of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The EPA said it found no evidence substantiating a claim by the Japanese automaker, Mazda, that gasoline mileage tests conducted by the agency did not fairly evaluate the performance of Mazda's rotary engines.

Mazda claimed its engines were more efficient in highway driving than piston engines when compared with city driving.

EPA tests showed that Mazda's rotary engine used 50 per cent more fuel to travel a distance both in city traffic and highway traffic than comparably sized cars with piston engines.

Warranty

Mazda also has announced it has extended the warranty on its rotary engine to 50,000 miles or three years, whichever comes first.

The offer covers all vehicles sold since March 26.

Since its introduction in 1973, Mazda has offered a two-year, 24,000 mile warranty.

Good news

Autoworkers building Detroit's "big cars" got good news last week when GM announced that 1,300 employees who were on "indefinite lay offs" from Detroit plants would be called back to their jobs on April 22.

GM Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg said that an increased demand for luxury-sized Cadillacs, during past weeks, production will be increased by 10,000 units.

Some 700 employees will be recalled in the Cadillac division and another 600 employees will be called back to the Fisher Body Fleetwood Plant.

New sedan

Chrysler announced last week it would enter the "luxury economy" field with the introduction of its new "Valiant Brogham" sedan.

Offered in a two-door hardtop and four-door sedan models, the car is designed to "operate economically and bring a new level of comfort and style to the nation's "Number One" compact" according to F.G. Hazelroth, Chrysler-Plymouth Division general sales manager.

V-6 engine

With an intention to meet increased demand for economy, Buick Motors in Flint announced it would build a "V-6" engine in the city for its smaller-sized cars in the 1975-model year.

The 225-cubic-inch engine will be used in the Buick Specials, offering "improved design and performance and fuel economy over the V-6 engine Buick offered before," according to GM George R. Elges, Buick general manager and GM vice-president.

School libraries change role

National Library Week, that will be observed April 21-27, is a good time to examine the changes in school libraries during the last few years, according to local librarians.

The changes at Lincoln Junior High School's Media Center, 50700 Willow Rd., Willis, are typical. Some Van Buren Township residents attend school there.

Libraries are called media centers. This is not just a new term for the traditional book collection, but is a name for a new concept of multiple learning resources for students and teachers, librarians say.

MANY MEDIA or materials are available for use by students, groups or classes. Students are encouraged to use the several sources and to evaluate what they read and hear.

Of course, there are books on the media center's shelves. Paperbacks are popular with the students, but there also are many other materials to be used and enjoyed librarians said. Filmstrips and accompanying tapes permit students to listen as well as view events.

The variety of resources helps make the center an essential part of the learning-teaching process the librarian said. Essential to a busy media center are the students aides who help others locate and use the many materials, she added.

Aides at Lincoln Junior High School are:

LORI LICHLYTER, Roxanne Ladzenski, Vicki Stoops, Jeff Coburn, Tony Bies, Dwane Quinney, Joyce Warfield, Wayne Call, Pat Lindsey, Donna Mettert, John Wells, Sheryl Kwasny, Denise Grammer and Matt Coplas.

Other student aides are Ron Hessler, Brenda Tarrow, Gail Howard, Carrie Piper, Carol McMahon, Linda Grimmette, Robin Popp, Jay Little, Connie Sampson, Kathy Crossley and Darla Ammon.

Students hear talk on finance

A talk on financing recently highlighted a government class at Belleville High School.

The presentation on governmental financing was given by Van Buren Township Treasurer Ralph Hedman.

He is the second township official to talk to the class in the last two or three weeks.

League membership denied Romulus

BY DALE GOWING
Of Enterprise-Roman Staff
Romulus High School has been turned down in its bid to join a newly-formed interscholastic-athletic conference.

The Enterprise-Roman learned late Tuesday that the board of directors of the league—which includes Livonia Clarenceville, Oak Park, Dearborn Heights, Annapolis and Woodhaven—rejected an application for membership submitted last fall by Romulus.

Anderson fund created

By TOM MOORADIAN

The words on the canister read: "Donations for Patrolman Anderson."

And, one of the small children in the store touched the container but was quickly reprimanded by his mother. The two strolled away.

I gazed down at the familiar face of the Wayne patrolman, who was critically wounded last week. He had aged some since the days when he was one of Westland John Glenn's top pitchers who was named to our All-Area team back in 1969.

"He still holds some of our records," recalled Glenn baseball Coach Norm Hoenes. "He was one player who always gave you 100 percent on or off the field."

ANDERSON was critically injured by a shotgun blast in the face after answering a call to 37014 Thinbark in Wayne last Wednesday. A suspect, William Caceres, 28, was arrested and later charged in the shooting.

Meanwhile, Patrolman Anderson is fighting for his life at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor where he has undergone surgery to remove a blood clot in the brain.

"The shooting was senseless, really," said one of the Wayne patrolman who dropped in to talk about the incident. "Those 'family quarrel runs' are the kinds you just don't know what to expect."

"And, therefore they're potentially the most dangerous. When you get a call that there's been a holdup, you know that the guys mean business and you gear yourself accordingly."

"But, nine times out of 10 when you answer a family quarrel, the things over before you even get there."

Unfortunately, the run that Anderson and his partner, Leonard Grabowski responded to last Wednesday wasn't. It turned into a tragedy.

And, if you should see one of the canisters with Anderson's picture on it, don't hesitate to contribute.

Or want to contribute more, make checks payable to the Den Anderson Fund, Wayne Chamber of Commerce, Wayne, Michigan.

Let's catch up with some of the news that we missed while we were in the hospital:

The unexpected death last week of Walt Cosens, Livonia Franklin's industrious athletic director, left us shocked and bewildered.

Walt was the type of person who would go out of his way to help and please you. Over the past decade in our dealings with the Franklin AD, Cosens helped to make our job just a little bit easier and enjoyable.

Like the recent regional basketball tournament that was staged at Franklin. Walt went out of his way to make sure that the sportswriters would have sufficient room to do their job.

After personally seeing us to our seats he asked, "How about some pop corn, Tom?"

That was a joke between us.

A COUPLE OF YEARS ago when I covered a basketball game at Belleville High School, Harry Hidenfelter, the athletic director at that high school, bought us a box of the pop corn and mentioned, "that we always like to treat sportswriters with the best."

Later, at one of the Franklin games, I informed Walt that "covering Belleville games had its advantages." And told him the story. He immediately whispered something to a couple of cheerleaders, and strolled away.

As the game progressed one of the girls stopped by our table, handed us a box of pop corn and said, "It's from Mr. Cosens."

A few minutes later another lassie trotted by and presented us with a smile and a candy bar, saying, "It's from Mr. Cosens."

And before the night was over I had a variety of goodies.

"Mr. Cosens just wanted you to know," said his final messenger, "that we do things better here than anywhere else."

They sure do. Walt's going to be missed by an awful lot of people.

IT'S GOOD to see that Cherry Hill has finally made up its mind on who'll coach the high school's varsity football team. And the board of education couldn't have come up with a finer man. He's Jerry Pawloski.

Pawloski is noted for his excellent swimmers and swimming teams. Ironically, Jerry has never swam competitively either in high school or college.

"There was no one for the swim coach's job here, they gave it to me," said Pawloski. So, he built a program that produced four Tri-River title teams.

RHA holds paper drive on May 4th

To help pay for the ice time, the newly-formed Romulus Hockey Association will conduct a paper drive on May 4th.

The RHA will also have a drop off station at 35636 Ronald Ave., and if contributors need help they may obtain it by calling either the drop off station at 941-5396 or Dave Bellenir, president of the RHA at 941-7396.

Proceeds from the sale of the newspapers will be used to defray the cost of obtaining ice time for the league's teams.

KEY HURLERS — Belleville's pitching staff, made up of Lee Stilltner (from left), Dan Matson, Kevin Bara and Gerard Memering, must come through if the Tigers are to realize their ambitions of winning the Suburban 8 Conference championship. Suburban 8 opener

Belleville stops RU on Bara's 7-hitter

The Belleville High senior, who pitched for Ypsilanti High last season after attending Belleville as a sophomore, has returned just in time to give Tiger baseball Coach Vit Kaminskis a needed lift in the hurling department.

He demonstrated his worth by striking out 13 Redford Union batters and scattering seven hits last Wednesday as Belleville won its season-opener, 3-1.

Bara also helped his cause by slapping a run-scoring single in the first-inning when the Tigers tallied all three runs to lock it up. Redford pushed across its lone run in the second on a single and a pair of sacrifice flies.

Kaminskis is unsure of his mound corps, which is without graduated aces Jerry Cole and Al Cicotte, and Bara's performance was a confidence-builder.

BELLEVILLE tagged loser Tom Miller for six hits and jumped on him early. Gary Adkins started things off in the first with a single, stolen base, then scored on Bara's hit. Dapsi then singled and he and Bara made a double-steal.

Greg Ivan then sent a fly ball to centerfield, but an error allowed Bara and Dapsi to score.

Belleville threatened again in the fourth and fifth innings but could not score.

The opener for both teams also signaled the beginning of the Suburban Eight League action. Belleville hosts non-league foe Romulus today at 4 p.m.

Veer offense CMU grid clinic theme

MT. PLEASANT — Central Michigan University will hold its seventh annual Football Coaches' Clinic Saturday, April 20.

The clinic is held every year in conjunction with spring practice and is open to all coaches and their staffs. The registration fee is $4 if paid before April 19 and $5 if paid at the door.

The fee includes three presentations on football topics, a noon luncheon, an on-the-field demonstration and a copy of the clinic notes.

THE CLINIC will begin with registration and coffee in the turf area of the Dan Rose Center at 8:30 a.m. CMU's offensive backfield coach Don

Peddie and line coach Chris Allen at 9 a.m. will discuss "The Veer Offense from the I-Formation."

At 10 a.m. defensive coordinator Herb Deromedi will cover "Linebacker Play" and defensive secondary coach Dennis Swenson will follow with a talk on "Defensive Backfield Play."

Following lunch the CMU football team will take part in various demonstrations.

All registrations should be sent to Peddie at the Football Office, the Dan Rose Center, Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Mich., 48859. Checks and money orders should be payable to Central Michigan University.

decision until notified by the Enterprise-Roman, since he had not yet received Renbarger's letter, but said he was not surprised.

"I'm not really surprised because if things had been positive we would have had an earlier reply from the league," Carr said. "I am disappointed though. I'd sure like to know what the reason is."

In Carr's three years as Romulus principal, the school has made several applications for league memberships, but

Eagles blanked by East

Romulus baseball Coach Bill Cuhnan isn't ready to push the panic button despite his team's third consecutive setback of the season, but don't be surprised if he does if the present trend doesn't shift.

The Eagles were the victim of a 5-0 shutout by Garden City East whose Mike Schmidke hurled a no-hitter last week. The two teams were to meet again last night, weather permitting.

"We have to be a little more consistent," said Cuhnan who entered his third year as the Romulus mentor. "Our defense broke down against East in the fifth, until then it was a good game."

SCHMIDKE went the distance, hurled seven hitless innings, struck out 10 and walked two while his teammates supported him with a single run in the third and two runs each in the fifth and sixth frames.

Rick Britz started for Romulus and went six innings. He struck out three and walked none but gave up a solo homer to Tod Kleinbrook in the third.

In the fifth, East's John Adkins was safe when the Romulus leftfielder dropped a fly ball for a two-base error. Adkins was singled home by Lou Willoughby, who went to second on the throw to the plate, then Walt Knoch's single drove in the baserunner.

East got its final two runs in the sixth when Paul Reed led off with a single, stole second and was chased home on Tim Whelan's base hit. Whelan advanced to second on a pass ball and scored when Jim Peter singled.

ROMULUS dropped a 4-2 decision to Ann Arbor Pioneer earlier in the week. The Eagles took a 2-1 first inning lead when Donnie Moore walked, moved to second on Jerry Goodman's single and loaded the bases when Mike Nelson also singled.

Mack Stillwagon then came through with a two run single.

Pioneer tied the score in the second and went ahead in the third, adding an insurance run in the sixth.

Kurt Lenderman started for the Eagles and went six innings, whiffing five while allowing six to reach base on walks. He was tagged for nine hits.

SCOTT ANDERSON, Ann Arbor's veteran shortstop, came up with some excellent defense which robbed Romulus of a couple of hits.

"They hit the ball well," said Cuhnan, "and got their people into scoring position

Huron thinclads whip Woodhaven

With Mike Sobodash taking four events, New Boston Huron swept all 15 first places en route to a devastating 106-17 victory over nonleague track rival Woodhaven last week.

The victory gave first year Huron track Coach Mike Matthews and the Chiefs a 2-1 over-all won-lost record. Their only setback is from former Huron Conference foe, Blissfield which eked out a 61-60 win.

Huron also has beaten Milan 81-42 this season.

"WE HAVE balance down the line," said Matthews, who is the former Mohrroe Catholic Central track coach, "but we're very inexperienced. We have a lot of untested young kids of whom 15 are juniors."

Sobodash, Huron's top point getter last year, leaped 5 feet, 6 to win the high jump, then had a 19 feet, 5 1/2 inch performance to take the long jump.

The 17-year-old Huron senior ran a 16.8 in placing first in the high hurdles and cleared the lows in 23 seconds. He duplicated his four-event winning performance against Milan.

"Our strength is in the hurdles with Sobodash," proclaimed Matthews whose Chiefs will return to action on Tuesday when they open league competition at home against Jefferson and Catholic Central.

"I feel that Carleton Airport is the team to beat in this league," he added, "they're solid straight through."

If Pawloski can produce championships in a sport that he knew little about, then what will he do for football, at the school.

Jerry is a former All-City griddler from Detroit Holy Redeemer who co-captained the University of Buffalo's team back in 1965. He played both defensive and offensive end in college.

There's still one area head coaching job open. Or is it. We still haven't heard who'll be Bob Draheim's replacement at Garden City West. Back to the Pawloskis. It seems that eight-year-old Jerry Pawloski won't follow in father's footsteps. Jerry Jr. is a "blue chipper" on the North Stars hockey team and recently was voted the team's MVP. He scored 19 goals and collected 20 assists for a total of 39 points.

JERRY SZUKAITIS' replacement as John Glenn's assistant track coach is none other than former All-Area track star Rance Teeple, a 1967 graduate of Cherry Hill High.

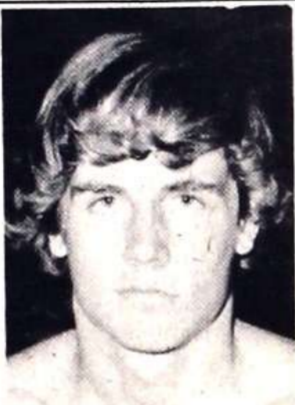

Rance's younger brother, Wes, is the Rockets' premier pole vaulter who made the grade as an All-Area vaulter as a sophomore but was out of circulation last year because of an injury.

Rance, 24, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, is still competing in the broad jump on the amateur level in AAU competition.

In fact, he recently won the Michigan AAU broad jump title with a leap of 22 feet, 6 inches. His best effort ever was 23 feet, 5 inches at EMU.

And the reason Teeple's name pops up here is because he will inherit the job that Szukaitis so capably performed in previous years - compiling the area track listing.

So, he'll be contacting you - or, if you wish, you can contact him at 729-5769.

BOWLING GREEN, O. — Bowling Green freshman Jeff Liedel from Belleville, Mich., has just completed a very successful first season on the varsity swim team.

While the Falcon team as a whole finished with a 4-7 record, Liedel earned a total of 17 points and two first-place honors in individual competition.

A freestyle swimmer, Liedel's best time was 10:52.6 in the 100 yard freestyle at Western Michigan University. During his years at Belleville High School, Liedel lettered in both varsity swimming and reserve golf. He also served as captain of the swim team and was chosen for the All Area Team.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas D. Liedel, 13107 Edgedale, Belleville, Mich., he is majoring in Sales and would like to pursue a career as a Manufacturer's Representative upon graduation.

Also, Dean Ackron, a Bowling Green freshman from Belleville, completed his first season.

Earning a total of 34.25 points, he placed first in individual competition four times and once as a member of a relay team.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Ackron, 1045 West Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich., he lettered three years as a freestyle swimmer at Belleville High School.

One of the highlights of his career has been winning the 1972 State Championship (Amateur Athletic Union) in the 200 yard Butterfly.

Michigan State sophomore wrestler Pat Milkovich won the 126-pound title in the 1974 NCAA championship meet, the second such victory in his career.

Belleville High School has been selected by the Michigan High School Athletic Association to host a district prep baseball tournament.

Eleven Class A schools will compete in the district, which begins with pre-district games at several locations from May 25 to June 1 and culminates with the finals June 1 at Belleville.

Besides Belleville, other schools competing in the district are: Romulus, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Plymouth Salem, Adrian, Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer, Monroe, Temperance-Bedford and Ypsilanti.

Pioneer won the district tournament last year but bowed in the Southfield Regional to Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Scout district gains plaque for achievement

The sustaining membership chairman of the Huron District of the Boy Scouts recently received a 100 per cent achievement plaque for the sustaining membership drive.

Leo M. Kalota received the plaque from Joe Kerridge, executive director of the district.

Petitions fall short by 200,000

Holmes' death penalty drive grinds to halt

By WEST THORP Lansing Bureau

Rep. Kirby Holmes, R-Utica, has found that it will take more than one man with a mission to restore capital punishment in Michigan.

Running, basically, a one-man operation, Holmes, a freshman lawmaker, was able to gather only 100,000 signatures asking that capital punishment be placed on the November general election ballot.

This was 200,000 short of what is needed for a statewide referendum.

LAST AUGUST, when he announced his petition drive, he felt that the enthusiasm for the restoration of the death penalty would snowball into 300,000 signatures.

That didn't happen.

"I was naive," Holmes said. A successful petition drive takes organization and people, he said.

AND THOSE two needed ingredients didn't enter Holmes' efforts until he neared the end of his 180 statutory limit for gathering signatures.

The death penalty drive, in the beginning, was fueled by press releases from Holmes giving up-to-the minute reports on how many signatures had been gathered $49,000 to run the scouting program, of which $47,000 is provided by the Detroit Area Boy Scouts Council.

The sustaining membership drive was necessary to raise $2,000.

The Scouts and officials wish to thank the supporting businessmen and residents of the Huron district who were very generous in helping them meet and exceed their goal, Kalota said.

TRADITIONALLY the Belleville area has contributed the majority of the money to the Scouts sustaining membership. However, this year Romulus membership was 55 per cent of the total area enrollment and is now challenging the Belleville area to do better next year, he added.

What is even more significant is that Sumpter and Huron townships have increased their participation by more than 100 per cent. This was through the good sales efforts of John Bardon in Huron Township and David Garlick in Sumpter Township, Kalota said.

There are about 1,500 Scouts enrolled in troops in the District. Anybody who is interested in joining or starting a new troop call "Dutch" Bauer at 697-3912.

Blames White House

Suburbs are losing funds

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has strongly criticized the White House-endorsed formula for distributing Federal education funds included in the education bill which passed the House of Representatives last week.

The congressman told a group of educators in Flint that the bill's formula for distributing Federal educational funds was both irrational and inequitable. "It does not provide enough money for suburban schools, and it does not do an adequate job for the big city school districts either."

FORD, a ranking member of the Education and Labor Committee, leveled two specific criticisms at the Elementary and Secondary Education Act Amendments: "First, the stated purpose of Title I of the bill is wrong. The stated purpose is to channel money to educationally disadvantaged children — or so-called poor kids. But," he emphasized, "We were not writing a poverty bill; we were writing an education bill."

He argued that Federal education funds should be channeled to every district having educationally disadvantaged children — not just to districts having poor children, because "educationally disadvantaged" is not synonymous with poverty. He referred to the U.S. Office of Education surveys which show that two thirds of all children in the U.S. with persistent reading problems come from families with annual incomes above $3000, and three fourths of the children with persistent problems other than reading are not from low-income families.

"SECONDLY," the congressman told the group, "the bill really does not do what its proponents say it is supposed to do. What the bill really does is to help sparsely populated rural school districts at the expense of the big cities and suburbs."

"For example, under the new formula and with the higher appropriation levels for the coming year, Wayne County would get a 12 percent increase and Genesee County would receive an 18 percent boost. But compare this with a 146 percent increase for Charlevoix County, 155 percent for Houghton County, and a whopping 290 percent for rural Keweenaw County."

Ford said he voted for final passage of the legislation because it extended virtually every Federal elementary and secondary education program for three additional years, and contained two strong anti-busing proposals, one of which Ford co-sponsored.

Director adds modern air to production of 'Peter Pan'

Talent, training and creative imagination are ingredients from which theatrical producers are made. Add to this a feeling for history and a fondness for the traditions of the theater and you have a very special kind of producer, one who uses his abilities to re-create the theatrical traditions of yesterday for today's audiences.

Such a man is Dr. Joseph French, manager of Theater Arts at the Henry Ford Museum, where Saturday matinee performances of "Peter Pan" are continuing through May 25. His background and temperament make him a natural as producer of the Museum's theater offerings.

French brings to his position a background of distinction in education and experience. He earned his bachelor's degree in Speech and Drama from Wayne State University, his master of fine arts degree in Dramatic Arts at Columbia and his doctor's degree in Shakespeare at the University of Birmingham, England.

HIS EARLY emphasis on the history of the theater and its role in society generated a lifelong interest in theater history, an interest which French considers the driving force behind his efforts to bring the history of American theater to life at the Henry Ford Museum.

French draws upon this wealth of experience and training in producing his plays. An integral part of the Museum's educational program, the productions are designed not only to entertain, but to restore and present American dramatic literature which reflects the history of this country and its dramatic arts.

A case in point is "Peter Pan," this year's Easter Family Theater presentation. The classic fantasy by J.M. Barrie has been performed in this country for more than 60 years and represents the development of American theatrical tastes since the turn of the century. As these tastes have changed, so have production techniques to accommodate them.

French has chosen to stage the complete, original version of "Peter Pan," enhancing the fantasy with more modern special effects and creative staging. A special mechanical apparatus allows Peter and Wendy to fly, ingenious costuming lends new charm to the menagerie of animals and inventive lighting and set design add to the enchantment.

AS A RESULT, the Museum's production of "Peter Pan" is of historical interest and is also entertaining enough to appeal to audiences in this television age.

Saturday matinee performances are scheduled for Saturday and for April 27 and May 4, 11 and 25 at 2 p.m. in the Museum Theater. Tickets may be purchased at the Theater box office for $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for children 14 and under.

Jaycees to host Fabulous Fifties

Residents interested in visiting yesterday will have a chance April 20 at the Westland Jaycee-sponsored "Fabulous Fifties Dance."

The dance will be held at the Wayne Ford Civic League Hall, starting at 7 p.m., and will feature six hours of entertainment from the Fifties at a price of $10 per couple.

Tickets are available through project chairman Larry Toupin. He can be reached at 729-9174.

Besides a night of nostalgic entertainment, the Jaycees will furnish beer and set-ups at the dance.

Weekend's lineup

Entertainment is for children

By SUSAN McDONALD
Of The Enterprise
Roman Staff

With Easter vacation drawing to close for most school age youngsters, parents will find entertainment geared to the returning scholars this weekend.

The Romulus Jaycees are continuing their weekly kiddie matinees with three features centering around animal life on tap for Saturday's showing.

The 1 p.m. performance will feature "So Dear To My Heart," "Seal Island" and "Water Birds" for the young theatergoers.

TICKETS for the movies, which are shown in the auditorium at Romulus High School are available through the Romulus school district.

Parents also will find a trip into the Civil War period a treat for youngsters as the Greenfield Village Players stage "Lee at Gettysburg."

Originally produced for television, the play is the agonizing story of the Civil War's bloodiest battle as told through the eyes of a Confederate soldier.

The play relates the events of the three-day battle that eventually lead to the devastating defeat of the Confederate Army.

THE PLAY is being presented at 3 p.m. in the Henry Ford Museum Theater. Tickets cost $2.50 for adults and $1 for children six through 14 years of age. Youngsters under the age of six will be admitted free.

Tickets can be purchased at the museum theater's box office.

For amateur artists who need a little extra help with their hobby or are interested in surveying the competition, the Detroit Hobby Show will be at the Light Guard Armory on East Eight Mile Road beginning tomorrow and lasting until Sunday.

Exhibits will include wood crafts, a silversmith, candlemakers, flower arrangers, ceramists, painters, rockhounds, peachstone carvers and doll makers among the wide variety of hobbies represented.

BROWSERS will find handmade bead flowers, hand-tied fishing lures, stuffed cloth dolls, applehead dolls, paper tole works, handmade silver jewelry and other items during the four-day event.

Seminars, demonstrations and question and answer sessions will be taking place continuously throughout the show's hours.

The armory will be open from 1 to 11 p.m. tomorrow through Saturday with Sunday hours set at 1 to 9 p.m.

For the musically minded residents, the combined Schoolcraft Choral, Symphonic Choir and college orchestra, under the direction of Bradley Bloom, will present Medelsohn's "Elijah" at 8 p.m. Friday.

THE FREE CONCERT is being staged at the Plymouth

Salem High School Auditorium.

Eternal principals are stated in the composition's oratorio through the use of small groups of voices, covering the life of the Old Testament prophet.

The role of Elijah will be handled by Ronald Teigen, a professor of economics at the University of Michigan. He is a frequent recital and oratorio soloist with the UM symphonies and concert series.

Other soloists in the performance will be by members of the participating vocal groups. Included in the singing are Julia Broxholm, Valerie Loiselle, Joan Malkiewicz, and Susan Wagenschutz.

FOR MUSEUM BUFFS, the art of the age of Egypt's sun king, Akhenaten, is now on display at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The exhibit includes some 170 art objects from Egypt's 18th Dynasty as removed from the rubble of Tell el Amarna. The display shows the dramatic changes which took place in the middle eastern kingdom during the Akhenaten's reign.

Move in now with Woodbury Green's

Mini- Down PLAN

What you do first.

Let's assume you can qualify and are approved for a mortgage on the condominium you want at Woodbury Green... and you can come up with a couple of hundred dollars. You can then move in right away and start making regular monthly payments of $232.50 a month.

What we do next.

We will credit each of your monthly payments* until there's enough for a down payment — as little as 5% of your purchase price at the lowest conventional mortgage rates available. Then, you take title to your condominium home, simply and easily as that. All the while you've been living in your Woodbury Green townhouse, enjoying the pool and the clubhouse and Belleville Lake and nearby Lower Huron Metro Park.

What you do now.

Come see the condominium townhouses at Woodbury Green. Check the features: 2 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, Whirlpool kitchen, central air conditioning and more, and compare the value. Then ask our sales representative to do the figuring — and find out how easily you can move in at Woodbury Green.

*For maximum of 6 months then based on a beginning sales price of $21,790. $1,090 down, mortgage at 8 1/2%, and 360 monthly payments of $168.56 principal and interest (you may take occupancy upon mortgage approval and pay $232.50 monthly for six months. At closing all of the above payments, except for a $25.00 monthly association fee for each month of occupancy will be credited to your down payment and closing costs.)
